

Dan Molina

Dan Molina has more than sixteen years of experience at Accenture, a leading global management consulting, technology services and outsourcing company. He is experienced in setting strategic direction and executing to meet the stated objectives. Molina has broad experience across key areas of IT, including global strategy, business development, service management, and research.

Mr. Molina is a well-recognized and respected leader who has been involved with the community in many capacities. He holds a Masters of Business Administration with a professional concentration in Management Information Systems from the University of Dayton and was a two-time regional finalist for the White House Fellowship.