

Ohio
Latino
Affairs
Summit
presents

Alicia Pagan

Speaker Highlight

Alicia Pagan is a Spanish teacher at Trotwood-Madison High School in the Dayton area and serves as the state Director for LULAC (League of United Latin American Citizens) Ohio. Additionally, she is co-founder of Ga-li Arts Education program and has worked with numerous liberal arts colleges developing artistic and cultural programs for students and faculty. She has presented and help develop locally and nationally in universities and colleges to promote diversity and cultural competency. She is helped institute the annual University of Dayton Native People's Colloquium, an annual diversity conference focused on contemporary Native American and Indigenous communities' historic and cultural perspectives. Incorporating various forms of the arts, including music, storytelling, and poetry to discuss topics on the intersections and common ground of cultural diversity and understanding. Alicia is a proud "Boricua" from Puerto Rico and has lived in Dayton for over 40 years.